

Ornamental Perennials

A perennial is a plant that germinates, grows, and sets seed for an indefinite number of years. Some of these plants may be short-lived or tender perennials in this area, with their life cycle determined by temperature, soil, moisture or countless other factors. In this section you will find plants that originate from all over the world as well as US natives of non-local origin. At The Natural Garden, Inc., we take pride in our extensive selection of over 700 varieties of ornamental perennials.

Woodland Ferns

Ferns are perennials that produce evergreen or deciduous leaf-like structures known as fronds. They belong to the Pteridophytes, a group of plants that lack flowers and reproduce by spores rather than seeds. Ferns provide attractive foliage and they generally prefer damp, shaded areas. They are highly valued for the elegant symmetry of their fronds and the textural contrast of their lush foliage. Once established, ferns usually require little maintenance.

Ornamental Grasses

Ornamental Grasses add much to a garden in terms of depth, line, sound and texture as a compliment to other colorful garden plants or even just by themselves. They work well as a background planting, a privacy screen or blended into the mixed border as filler. The majesty of these plants only becomes greater as the season progresses. Their towering plumes will begin to gracefully arch over the garden as autumn arrives and the colors of their foliage intensify into vibrant reds, oranges, yellows and bronzes.

Herbs

The herb collection at The Natural Garden, Inc. is one of the most diverse that you will find locally. Some will be used cosmetically, medicinally, for drying, and all will be beautiful and fragrant in your garden. These plants are great in containers, windowboxes, kitchen gardens or mixed into a border with other plants.
